Genuine Dana Spicer Axle Parts

For more than a century, Dana innovation and technology has provided axles and components people count on to ensure the long life of their vehicle. When you purchase a genuine Dana Spicer axle product, you are getting a product with more than a hundred years of quality engineering and design behind it.

All Spicer ring and pinion gears are designed and tested to meet original equipment specifications. They're built to the latest designs, which include premium heat treat processes and optimal tooth profiles, plus high-grade steel to achieve maximum durability.

Genuine Spicer Axle repair kits include all the latest production upgrades, so the parts you're installing are as good—or better—than the parts that originally came with the vehicle. Each kit comes with the exact combination of parts you need to get your axle back in shape and on the road.

Backed by Dana Holding Corporation, as an alternative to Dana's current product offerings, SVL brand axle products offer valuable driveline solutions that are affordable and delivered with the service and reliability our customers have come to expect. SVL brand products are engineer-approved, performance-tested, to deliver reliable performance for applications where genuine original equipment performance specifications are either not required or exceed your budget constraints.
